Who are we?!

Then.....

Now....

Background to AISWR

- Idea between social work educators and practitioners to provide a platform for social work practitioner-researchers, Masters, and PhD students to showcase their ongoing and completed research.
- Developing collaborative partnerships with social work programs, professional associations, established social work research organisations (NI) and social work practitioner researchers across the island of Ireland
- First conference in 2019
- Further developing collaborative partnership through connecting with The Social Work Research Collective
- Seminar series online during COVID
- Second conference planned in 2024

2019 AISWR conference

- ✓ Huge enthusiasm
- ✓ Amazing collaboration and support from across Ireland
- ✓ Openness and willingness to work together in such a genuine and collaborative manner allowed the core AISWR organizing team to effectively plan and progress the conference in a creative and inclusive way

Why Research?

We may be heading toward a 'golden age' of practice research ... one exceedingly important route to that destination ... is relationship-based research
