

The Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE) publishes a wide range of resources designed to support people working in frontline practice to improve outcomes for people who use services. SCIE provides you with reliable, up-to-date and thoroughly researched guidance and practical tools on the main issues in social care. SCIE's resources include practice guides and research briefings. In addition to reports we have interactive e-learning modules and Social Care TV, so you can learn in different ways. You will also find links to other resources on our website. If you are interested in further reading have a look on our Social Care Online, which is a digital library of many social care resources.

Visit our website www.scie.org.uk to see what we have to offer.

You can use SCIE resources to develop your knowledge and skills and to provide evidence for your post registration training and learning requirements (PRTL) with NISCC. You might find it useful to discuss this with your supervisor who may be able to help you to identify or access appropriate resources. Think about your learning needs, so you can decide whether a particular resource is relevant to your work and the people you support. SCIE resources are available on the website at www.scie.org.uk, and are free to use.

About SCIE

The Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE) improves the lives of people who use care services by sharing knowledge about what works. We are a leading improvement support agency and an independent charity working with adults', families' and children's care and support services across the UK. We also work closely with related services such as health care and housing.

Click on the headings below and this will take you to the relevant section of the SCIE website where you can access a variety of SCIE resources. If you wish to download material, you need to register or log on to the SCIE website.
